IMAGINE THE IMPOSSIBLE

*"Diversifying the Fine Arts
Through Empowerment and Education"*

"We are all concerned about the future of our youth and eager to ensure every child in Dallas has equal access to the opportunities this great city offers. It is so rewarding to see youth such as the Imagine the Impossible Dance Workshop exhibiting leadership qualities and civil responsibility. Efforts such as yours benefit our great city."

-Laura Miller, Former Mayor of Dallas

Imagine the Impossible is a non-profit organization which heightens the aesthetic appreciation of children through the discipline of classical ballet education and professional performance training. The organization specializes in the study of classical ballet training, which it uses as a tool to capture the attention and transform the lives of children at or below the poverty level. Imagine the Impossible offers a Classical Fine Arts Workshop that fosters academic enrichment by challenging the following: exploration, projection, teamwork, critical thinking, retentiveness, concentration, focus and analytical abilities. The organization currently serves over 500 children throughout Dallas, Texas.
